

Redacción inglés

They were completely lost. The brave sea had broken the two boats, and they had sunk. Only the pirates of the second boat survived, and they had to swim for a long time. Later, they arrived at an island, but there wasn't much food there.

So, a lot of pirates died because they didn't like the tropical fruits of the island, and they just drank their own. In the end, only two pirates survived, the captain and one girl, whom he rescued when their boat sank.

For a long time, all in that island was happiness; they fell in love, but one day a monkey appeared in the island. It was very big, and it liked the girl, so it captured her. The captain was furious, because he really loved the girl, so he looked for the monkey, and when the captain found it, the big monkey and the captain fought for one entire month, because the monkey was very strong. But, finally, the captain won, it was very difficult, but the captain and the girl lived happily ever after.